CM/ECF has been tested and works correctly with Netscape 4.6x and 4.7x. Do not install any higher version of Netscape including Netscape 6.0. Do not use Internet Explorer when accessing CM/ECF. Note: America On Line (AOL) uses IE as its default browser. Only use Internet Service Providers that use Point-to-Point protocol (PPP).

Instructions on Securing a PACER Account: All Eastern Virginia Bankruptcy Court CM/ECF registered users and non-registered query-only users must enter an assigned PACER login and password to access ECF documents in the Court's database, including ECF documents filed in the Heilig-Meyer Company, et al, case (00-34533-DOT). You must have an active account to access Version 1 CM/ECF documents. If you already have an active PACER account for the Court's PACER dial up system, you may use the same account for CM/ECF Version 1. If you do not have a PACER login and password, please contact the PACER Service Center to establish your account. You may register online at <http://pacer.psc.uscourts.gov> or call the PACER Service Center at (800) 676-6856 or (210) 301-6440.

Support representatives from the PACER Service Center can assist you with problems accessing PACER, answer general questions or accept suggestions. Click the link below to send an e-mail message to the PACER Service Center. All questions are answered in the order received. For faster service, please be sure to include in the message your: Name; login ID, area code and telephone number, e-mail address and name of our Court (Eastern Virginia Bankruptcy Court). DO NOT include your password.

Instructions on Filing Documents Electronically: You do not need a PACER account to file documents electronically. You do, however, need an Eastern Virginia ECF login and password to file documents electronically. If you do not have an Eastern Virginia ECF login and password, please visit the Eastern Virginia ECF homepage at: <http://www.vaeb.uscourts.gov/ecfnew/ecf.htm>

USER FEES FOR CM/ECF

For the present time, you will not be billed for accessing the Court's CM/ECF data.

Section 404 of Public Law No. 101-515 authorizes the Judicial Conference of the United States to prescribe reasonable fees that must be collected by the federal courts for providing public access to information available in electronic form. The required fees are set out at 28 U.S.C. § 1930. The Congress has mandated that user fees must be assessed in lieu of using appropriated funds to offset the Judiciary's costs of providing public access to information available in electronic form. The Judiciary's Electronic Public Access (EPA) program relies exclusively on revenues derived from the Public Access to Court Electronic Records (PACER) program, including the $.07 per page charge for accessing case documents; billing for which will commence at a later date. There will be no charge, other than any applicable filing fees set out in 28 U.S.C. § 1930, for filing documents electronically. Users who have set up automatic notification in a case will not be charged for one-time retrieval, downloading or viewing of that document when accessing the document directly from the e-mail notification. Free access to CM/ECF data is available at the public access computer terminals located in the Alexandria, Newport News, Norfolk and Richmond divisions of the Eastern Virginia Bankruptcy Clerk's office.
